

Introduction: Cyclops Marine (CML) is a fast growing technology business, the operational supply of products is ever evolving as we launch new products and have to manage the growing demand of our existing range.

Job Description
Operations/Supply Chain Manager
Overall Objective	Ensure the operational supply of products are available to align with the sales forecast, manufactured to the required quality standard. The role requires a highly organised, engineering focussed candidate who would thrive in the high growth environment. Requires an ability to develop process and systems so suit the growing volumes. Align and thrive within the dynamic culture and values of the business, bringing positivity to your daily role.
Roles & Responsibilities	Own the supply chain for CML, ensuring all suppliers are aligned to our plan and are strategic partners with the business. Maintain regular supplier assessment, visiting suppliers and clearly define to them requirements of volume and quality. Have a rolling plan of cost & quality improvement (this may involve coordinated supplier change). Identify and specify opportunities for product improvement working with the product development team to document and implement changes. Run the CML MRP system to ensure material supply is well planned to meet forecasted and actual order requirement, ensuring a seamless supply of product to the expected high quality. Work within the defined monthly stocking budget. Own the Goods-in quality check/validation process, set goals to move the process out to the supply chain ensuring they are aligned with your validation vision. The process must be rigorous, traceable and have constant improvement goals. Manage the Goods-out process to meet the on-time in-full target. Product manage the custom load pin supply, this may require some customer contact to define certain specifications. Manage the company warranty process, working closely with suppliers and the CTO to meet improvement targets. Prepare monthly management reports against the specified goals, on occasion joining the company management meeting to present. Manage an office-based technician to support delivering the above goals. This may require managing the recruitment of interns or Kicker Starter employees.
